

Don's "Uncommon Men"

"Uncommon Men," by Don C. Seitz, is one of the most entertaining books ever written. It is a collection of stories about men who are different from the rest of the world. The stories are written in a simple, straightforward style, and are full of humor and interest. The book is a must-read for anyone who enjoys a good story.

The best part of it is the incomparable style and way the book is written. There is a rich humor in it that is more than a little bit of a surprise. I have laughed at my work in the past, but I have never laughed so much as I have at this book. I first opened the book at a party, and I was the first to read it. The book is a collection of stories about men who are different from the rest of the world. The stories are written in a simple, straightforward style, and are full of humor and interest. The book is a must-read for anyone who enjoys a good story.

ELECTRIC POWER FINDING FAVOR WITH MAINE FARMERS

Maine farmers are using electricity 31 different ways, according to a report made public by a committee appointed at a conference of state agricultural leaders last June to make a survey of the application of electricity on farms in this state. M. D. Jones, Farm Management Specialist of the College of Agriculture, Orono, and John W. Leland, Rural Line Extension Agent for Central Maine Power Company formed the committee.

The committee visited farms in Androscoggin, Cumberland, Oxford, Kennebec, Knox, Waldo and Penobscot Counties. 35 representative farms where electricity is being used as a source of power are included in the survey.

The report states: "These farms were making a total of 31 different uses of electricity, outside of using it for light. It was used for 19 different purposes around the farm and 12 purposes in the home. Chief among the farm uses were pumping water and operating milking machines. Dairy farms made use of electricity to run cream separators, churns, bottle brushes, ensilage cutters and feed grinders. A poultryman run his incubator with it, several saved work with it, while others used it to operate a hay hoist, grain thrasher, griststone, buzz saw, drill, apple grader, soldering iron, emery wheel and battery charger.

"In the house the women were using electricity to operate washing machines and heat electric flatirons. Several had vacuum cleaners and toasters. Some women used electricity to operate sewing machines and also ice cream freezers. One woman had an electric dish washer, and others were using electric heaters and waffle irons, while two were using electricity to cook with, and one to heat water."

According to the farmers interviewed, electricity has many advantages over other types of power. Convenience and cleanliness were pointed out as leading factors. With gas engines and windmills, as other sources of power, the farmers called attention to the following advantages of electric power: More convenient to operate, less time required to carry out, automatic features possible, steeper power, stronger pull on low speed, less fire hazard, no freezing up, and no objectionable odors.

The committee found "that the adaptation of electric power to heavier farm work, such as sawing wood, threshing and cutting ensilage presents some problems to be solved because of the very limited number of days' use during the year, and the need of larger motors and transformers. The few farmers who were equipped and using electricity for this kind of service expressed themselves as being well satisfied. The difficulty of wiring current for a heavy duty portable motor was given as reason for not using electricity more for such work as threshing, sawing wood, and cutting ensilage.

"The advantage from an economic standpoint, of having barns and stables well lighted, as it is possible to do with electric current, was brought out very clearly by the farmers," the report states. "Several farmers expressed the opinion that under these conditions two men could perform the work that under the old system of kerosene lanterns it would require three men to do. The advantage of having lights outside the buildings in yards and driveways was also apparent. One man who had outside lights on all four sides of his buildings remarked that he could haul apples or weed the garden after dark if occasion required."

"A very general feeling of satisfaction was expressed by the farmers in the report. They were quick to point out the advantages of electric power, and were quick to point out the disadvantages of other types of power. They were quick to point out the advantages of electric power, and were quick to point out the disadvantages of other types of power. They were quick to point out the advantages of electric power, and were quick to point out the disadvantages of other types of power."

"As a result of this survey," the report continues, "it is felt that there is need for more definite information on the economic value of electric current as it relates to the production and manufacture of the various agricultural products in the state. It is suggested that the need of research along these lines should be called to the attention of those agencies which are engaged in doing research work in agricultural economics within the state."

The report concludes: "It seems certain that the availability of electric energy will be an important factor in the future development of our agricultural resources, and for that reason this subject should receive careful consideration by all interested in such development."

He Tickets You Through E. H. Boynton, of Portland, formerly with the Grand Trunk in their Boston office, for many years, was a regular at our office recently. He left us a copy of the Miami (Fla.) Herald as an object lesson in advertising.

Years ago, when he was our Waterville correspondent, we made a larger per cent. net return on the investment than does the Herald.

We feel that we are still doing it, but the amount of business we are doing is only a fly speck compared with the Florida paper, yet we live to record the local happenings in this vicinity.

Mr. Boynton is the Portland manager of the International Mercantile Marine Co., and he can route you anywhere in the world you may want to go, at as low a rate as anyone. Also can save you money and inconvenience. He knows how.

WHERE THE WOODVINE TWINE My dear Mr. Sanborn: In a recent issue of the Advertiser, a certain Mr.
Greenleaf was quoted as having discovered a new cure for colds, pneumonia, etc.
The formula consisting of most carbonic acid and an equal portion of Scotch. Now, I know where I can get a very good brand of carbonic acid, will you or Mr. Greenleaf advise me where I can get the Scotch?

Yours very truly,
W. E. DeCroteau.

VISITS HIS HOME TOWN
Gene Rowe and wife, and Mrs. Ada Young, of Auburn, have spent a few days with Harry Greenleaf and family on Pleasant.

Gene is a son of the late Geo. P. Rowe of this town. He is employed in the Dugley & Foss Shoe factory in Auburn, where he has held a good position for several years.

A shower was given Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Johnson, Saturday evening, Nov.
7, at their home. The newly married couple received a large number of welding presents. Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. O.
Smith, Mrs. C. Whittemore, Mrs. A.
Payne, Mrs. F. Rich, Mrs. A. Snow, Mrs.
A. Blaquiere, Mrs. L. Davis, Miss Iola Merrill, Miss Cora Smith, Mrs. T. Johnson, Mrs. Wm. Olmstead, James Smith, Dorothy Smith.

Take notice of those who have one hundred per cent. in spelling under the "School Notes." Each grade gives the names and the middle initial of each student, and that is the way it should be.
Thanks to the teachers for co-operation, we appreciate the effort.

Norway Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., will confer the 2nd degree on several candidates Tuesday evening, Nov. 17.

Verrill's Orchestra will hold a dance at Norway Grange Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 18. Old and new dances will be offered and a good time is promised.

Timothy L. Heath's crew have removed a number of tall trees from Norway Pine Grove cemetery. This operation required great care and the generous use of pulleys and ropes to avoid damaging the monuments.

Steady rainfall, Sunday, thoroughly saturated the earth and filled most of the springs. The water situation for winter is said to be the best in many years.

The Norway School Board will hold their monthly meetings, the second Monday, in each month, at 7:30 P. M., at Donald B. Partridge's office.

E. B. Jackson was ill, Saturday, and confined to the house.

The week of Nov. 16 is Educational Week and through the courtesy of Jackson & Greenlaw, a window display of Miss Gardner's and Miss Elliot's pupils' work will be on exhibition, Nov. 20th.
Know Your School Day.

Mrs. Alice Knightly has sold her place on the south side of Brides street to L.
M. Jack, of Brownfield. The Knightlys have until the first of December for the removal of their household goods and livestock to a new place. Mrs. Knightly expects to buy a place in the village.

Joe Doby has put in several corners for the houses occupied by Geo. Smith and Mrs. Braden, on Water street, and had a new pipe for city water at the house formerly owned by Harry Isaacson, at the Falls.

Mrs. Ada Hill has returned from East Stoneman to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Edwards.

ABOUT TOWN

Don C. Seitz and B. Frank Bradbury have been the closest and warmest of friends for half a century. They were born during Civil War time, the latter in 1861, and the former in 1862. They came together in Norway in their early teens, where their fathers before them had formed a very close friendship. They lasted through their lives. The boys saw in each other characteristics to admire—many qualities and noble aspirations and were naturally attracted to each other. As boys they were great favorites with everybody, and this regard for them has continued unabated with Norway people to this day. Both have achieved deserved success—Don as an author and newspaper man, and Frank as physician and surgeon. Norway people are proud of them.

Having to go, on Saturday evening, to the court house, as a bail commissioner, it was noted how finely the main streets, lawn and driving houses in sight were lighted. There were many colored lights and clusters of lights, making the whole way a panorama of pleasing effects. We saw a new living in a new age, and how fortunate some of us are to have lived to see it, and how wonderful it will be when the sky is full of air craft lighted with all the colors of the rainbow, at night.

I overlooked, last week, a deserving Miss, in the mention of the clerks in Fred Brown's store. It was Miss Mae Downing of Pleasant Street. She has been employed there since she graduated from the high school. I have known her all her days, and no better young lady, or more tasty one, especially in the matter of dress, lives among us.

Emma Dunham, wife of Melville, the now champion and famous fiddler, is a hunter. Both were once pupils of the school I taught many years ago, in their district. She is the only woman hunter I ever knew anything about. She was the youngest child of a great hunter, Calvin Richardson, and seems to be the only one of the family who had any liking for the chase. I do not know as she ever killed a bear, but every other species of game.
I believe, has been brought down by her gun.

Calvin long since passed to the Land of the Blest. I never think of him without being reminded of a story he once told me. He said he had attended a meeting a short time before at a place where there were several different kinds of entertainment going on at the same time.

One evening a prayer meeting was conducted; in another a quartette was playing "Old Sledge." In an adjoining shed two young men were having a "setto" with boxing gloves on, while in another part of the house a fiddler was tuning away on the organ, with all his might, while several couples were "being it down" to the tune of "Old Zip Coo."

Melville might possibly have been an interested looker-on, getting an inspiration from the scene.

I passed a female on the street, one of these warm Indian summer, last week, who was dressed so strikingly that I felt disgusted. Don't think she lived here—at least I did not know her. She belonged to the class I have denominated broomstick girls—tall, angular, sharp featured, sleeveless dress, reaching only just below the knees, while white stockings, very high heel boots and hat tipped one side completely the outfit. Probably she thought she was in style. Heavens save us from such styles as these.

The greatest excellence of the female character is modesty and good taste.

—C. F. Whitman.

Preserving Hunting Trophies at the Nash Studio

S. O. Jellerson's Ten Point Deer Head and Dr. Twaddle's Bear Being Mounted

The hunting season is on and the fact is noticeable at the shop of Nash, of Maine, conducted by Mrs. W. J. Nash.
A ten point deer head brought in from Eustis by Stephen O. Jellerson, is a beauty and will prove a "regular dream" as they say. George F. Fubbs has a nice specimen for mounting. Deer heads from W. J. Barbin and Ernest Gagne of Berlin, N. H., are well pointed and look good. Walter "Ike" Waite, the well known guide, is taxidermist for this work.

Bears seem to be plentiful and Mrs.
Nash has converted many pelts into mats with heads attached. Among the late arrivals is a sizeable brown shot by Dr.
Gard Twaddle of Lewiston and others belonging to E. F. Haines of West Paris, Ben. Haskell of Berlin, N. H., and Joseph Hart of Wadsworth Location. Bear paws are a popular mount and used for camp decorations.

Game birds are there by the score.
Owls, day partridges and woodcock are conspicuous and Mrs. Nash works far in to the evening to keep up with the fortunate hunters, anxious to preserve their trophies.

Some less than a hundred big fishes from the spring vacation are in the tank and will soon appear on a whole mount, on the well known "mezzo" or the medallion mount as customers desire. Many others are in various stages of the work from stretching to the finished product.

A curiosity for meadow-brook fishermen is a salmon taken from the St. Johns river near Quebec. Its weight was 35 lbs., and as it is mounted, measures 45 inches in length. J. B. Pierce of Boston owns this beauty. One other, landed by Chas.
B. Leonard of New York City, measured 42 inches and tipped the scales on the 25 pound mark.

Mrs. Nash reports this the busiest season in years. Beside her duties as taxidermist, she is business and advertising manager, shipping clerk and office girl.
With customers from nearly every state needing attention, her clerical duties are of some importance and spare time is an unknown quantity in her daily routine.

Central Maine Power Co.

Hook-up With Bethel High Tension Lines Extended From West Paris

About forty men are putting through a new 11,000 volt electric line from West Paris to Bethel, a distance of about fifteen miles. Work is expected to be completed by December, and will tie up Bethel Light Company with the interconnected system of Central Maine Power Company.

A construction crew started from West Paris in September, and poles are set over more than one-half the distance to the objective. Progress has been handicapped by hard digging and much lumbering. Ledges and bogs have been negotiated in a surprisingly short time, and hundreds of forty foot cedar poles mark the trail of progress.

Bethel village is served by a local company generating electricity in a mill.
Augmented by hydro-electric power, transmitted over Central Maine Power Company system, the local plant will provide twenty four hour per day service over a wider area.

Bryant's Pond, which has a community lighting system will not be in this line up. However, the rural districts through which the line extends will have long distance service for lights or power.

Locke's Mills and other sections in Greenwood, along the right of way, open a promising field and the citizens are happy over the advent of modern conveniences for the village home and farmhouse.

A PARTY FOR THE YOUNGSTER

What a gala time it for the child, when his mother has a party for him, or when he is invited to a party by his playmates.
In his mind it is a big affair, one never to be forgotten. Since this is the case, mothers should put themselves out a bit, occasionally, and have a party for the children.

Many mothers find it rather hard to plan a party, which will be full of life and fun for the little ones present. Children love to play, and they are always interested in new ones, so it is nice, if some new game can be introduced at each party.

The games which can be played depend somewhat upon the age of the children present. For the youngest children, the game of tag, or drop the handkerchief is always interesting. If it is a rainy day, the little ones can spend a happy hour, cutting out paper dolls, or having stories read to them. Sometimes, if the weather is warm, the little ones might enjoy a little walk to a brook or lake, where they could have simple refreshments, as milk and cookies, on their arrival there.

For the older children there is a variety of games and things to do. A few of the most popular games are: Blind Man's Buff, peasant hunt, hunt the slipper, Going to Jerusalem, spin the top, gossip, tug of war, London Bridge is falling down, Potato race, Forfeits, I spy, Hide and Seek, etc.

Children like to be doing something every minute, and they also like to do a variety of things, so it is wise for the older person, who is taking charge of the party, to keep introducing different games and not allow them to play one game all the afternoon.

Out of door parties are very nice enjoyable ones. They enable the children to have more freedom to play running games than indoor parties do. (They save mother a lot of work, too, for the house doesn't get disheveled.)

Plenies always appeal to children and adults as well. If the child's birthday comes in the summer, a birthday party can be given for him in the form of a hike or picnic. A hare and hound chase is lots of fun. The children are divided into two groups. The group is called the Generally the hares lead the hounds a wild chase through a crooked trail. When the hounds finally find the hare a picnic lunch can be served to the hungry bunch.

This game is very exciting, and the hounds are always curious to know where they are being led.

For indoor parties it is always fun to play guessing games or some kind of acting games. Beast, Fish or Bird, Consequences, Acting proverbs, Telling Stories, Old Man's Soup, etc., are good. Consequences are always very interesting to chilren. Button contest, peanut hunt and the various relay races are lively and full of fun. A lemon race is lots of fun. Several strips of paper or cloth, about ten feet long, are placed on the floor and pinned there. Then the children are divided into teams. A lemon is placed on each tape, and one person at a time rolls the lemon on the strip of paper to the other end, with a yard stick. The team that wins, gets a prize. The task of rolling the lemon down the strip is not an easy one, for the lemon persists in rolling off the strip, and when this happens, the player must go back and start over again.

In every party, there arises the question of refreshments. This is where many mothers fail. The refreshments should be suited to the children's ages. Since parties generally come in the afternoon, suitable for the children to be served are rich desserts, or other elaborate refreshments. Milk desserts, like custards are not too rich, and are much better for the children than ice cream and rich cakes. Little cookies with icing can be served. Instead of having fudge, or chocolate candy for the refreshments, serve gum drops made into little men or animals. It is better to serve refreshments quite early in the afternoon, so that the appetite will not be taken away from the children for their supper.

Whoever has charge of the party, should see that every child has a good time with the other children.

A very fine book of games, entitled "What shall we do now?" by Dorothy Canfield, has been published by Frederick A. Stokes Company, of New York, and can be obtained at a reasonable price at book stores. It contains over 500 children's games and pastimes.

Advance In Dentistry

The old fallacy that dentists are a fierce, cruel offshoot of mankind, and that they delight in hurting the unfortunate who have to submit themselves to dental science, is apparently doomed to oblivion.

The international dental exhibition, just held in London, England, shows for all time that the modern dentist is a man who would not think of hurting a fly, and whose only aim is to put his patients out of pain in the speediest and safest way possible.

Hundreds of new gadgets were on show at the exhibition, and 89 per cent. of them have been invited with a view to alleviating that sense of terror generally displayed when on a visit to the dentist.

Some of the world's greatest dental surgeons delivered addresses, and practically every one of them gave illustrations in one way or another that dental science is now occupied in perfecting instruments and drugs which will make dentistry absolutely painless.

Experts have perfected a new mixture of laughing gas and oxygen which takes away all sensation of pain, but leaves the patient absolutely conscious of all that is going on, with the result that he is perfectly normal mentally, but that a pin could be stuck into him and he would not feel it.

Tablets have been invented which are guaranteed to control all nervousness, fear and pain. The idea is that the intending patient swallows a tablet the night before the dreaded day, another on the fateful morning of the extraction, and he walks into the dentist's parlor as brave as a lion, leaping lightly into the chair and requesting the dentist to "Take your time, I am in no hurry."

The exhibition also showed that the dentist of today is very much more than a molar puller. He has to know everything about X-ray, pyorrhea, electricity, ultra-violet rays, as well as have at his finger tips the knowledge of how to use anything between 50 to 100 different instruments.

On view at the exhibition was a massive X-ray machine, complete, with innumerable coils, knobs and mirrors, priced at $1,700. There was also an up-to-date violet ray lamp, which shoots rays into the mouth and kills all germs in three minutes. This lamp is said to obviate the necessity of having all the teeth extracted when pyorrhea is developed, for it is claimed that it will kill the pyorrhea germs almost immediately. This efficient cure for the dread modern disease of the mouth is heralded as a triumph for dentistry.

PAUL'S ARREST IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:18-23:22.
GOSPEL TEXT—"If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed." PRINCIPAL TOPIC—Paul is Brave in Jerusalem.
SUBJECT TOPIC—Paul and the Jerusalem Mob.
IMMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Paul's Arrest in Jerusalem.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Arrest in Jerusalem.
THE SPIRIT OF THE MOB.

1. Paul's Vow (21:18-20).
Paul's arrival at Jerusalem representatives of the church there giving a most cordial reception. In order that the brethren in Jerusalem might completely receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law.
The church was to remove prejudice.
They recognized that such an act would in no way compromise or invalidate the Gentile brethren. Furthermore, this would not compromise his principles of action, viz., to the Jews to become a Jew, and to the Gentiles to be Gentiles; all things to the glory of the Father.

2. Paul's Arrest (21:27-40).
Paul's arrest at this time constituted a great triumph for the Jews, but it only increased the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These malicious Jews on the basis of a supposedly false charge, seized Paul and dragged him from the temple and mercilessly beat him to death.
Paul was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard. The chief captain, Claudius, sought to get any information from the howling mob, bound Paul and stood for the castle. In order to prevent him from the murderous frenzy of the mob, the soldiers lifted him up and carried him and bore him up the steps. Paul kept himself under control and politely asked permission of the captain to speak to the people.
When he addressed him in Greek and quoted his Roman citizenship, the captain ordered his request.

3. Paul's Defense (22:1-27).
Paul's chief concern was not his own safety. He used this opportunity to address them to them of Christ.

4. His Claim for a Rightful Hearing (22:28-30).
Paul was a Jew born in Tarsus, a city of great reputation.

5. His Education (v. 3).
He was educated under Gamaliel and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers."

6. His Zeal (v. 3).
He was as zealous toward God as those Jews who were trying to destroy him.

7. His Attitude Toward Jesus (v.
4).
He persecuted this way unto the Gentiles, so that his attitude was one of hatred as was that of the Jews.

8. How His Attitude Was Changed
(v. 4-5).
While on his way to Damascus with authority to bind the Christians at Jerusalem, he was smitten to the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou me?" When Paul inquired what he was to do, he was told to go to Damascus where he would be told what to do.

9. The Lord Commissioned Him to Go to the Gentiles (17-21).
IV. Paul Before the Sanhedrin (23:1-35).

The Roman officer, in order to learn why Paul was arrested, commanded the chief council to assemble, and brought Paul before them.

1. Paul's Earnest Look at the Council (v. 1-2).
This was a solicitation of their favor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unflinching courage.

2. Paul's Stern Rebuke of the Head of the Council (v. 3).
"God shall smite thee, thou whited wall."

3. Paul's Appeal to the Pharisees
(v. 6-10).
Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees hoping to get their attention in common with their belief.

4. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).
This assured him that his course was right, and thus comfort was brought to him.

5. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul
(v. 12-22).
More than forty men placed themselves under a curse to abstain from eating and drinking until they had murdered him. God defeated their plan without a miracle.

6. Darkness
The darkness which is the result of the absence of the light which others ought to shed is bad enough; but how great is the darkness of disbelief and unbelief into which some will voluntarily plunge!—The Menonites.

7. The Stream of Life
The stream of life for the broad-minded man flows steadily forward without rush and roar in ways of peace and good will.—Western Christian Advocate.

8. RUMFORD POINT
Mrs. Ellingwood is on the sick list.
Mrs. Kimball, of Portland, and daughter, were guests of Caroline Blauchard, recently.

9. Fred Tibbets and family were visitors over Sunday, Nov. 1, at relatives in Albany.

10. Mr. Temple and wife, of Aroostook County, are guests of their daughter, Mrs. Durepo.

11. J. V. Cole has gone to Boston, by auto, after his wife.

12. Monday, Nov. 2, A. J. Marble bought a cow of O. A. Buck, of Bethel.

13. Father usually has to pay for the com-piments he receives.

family in, recently.

3. The Insidious Harm of Constipation

When you are bilious and constipated you are unwittingly permitting poisons to circulate through your system and do you harm.

A prominent physician says, "Con-of all human ills."

If you want to feel fine, able to fight life's battles with 100 per cent effi-night guests of Della Andrews, recently.

The Andrews family recently received the sad news of the accident and death of Herbert Waite of Portland, caused from a bullet from a fellow sportsman's pistol, while he and some other fellows were on a hunting trip in Piscataquis county.

They were engaged at target practice when the bullet striking the limb of a tree, which deflected, turning its course toward Mr. Waite, the bullet lodged in the abdomen, after passing through a portion of the body. He was taken from Lake Umbagog to a hospital in Greenville, where the bullet was removed, but pneumonia set in, following the exposure from the long trip which took several hours, and the injured man lapsed into a state of coma, from which he never awoke. The Waite family have spent their vacations for a couple of summers

For Better Warmth With Greater Economy

For Homes and other Buildings up to 8,000 Cubic Feet Capacity.

The Ideal Vecto Heater is truly one of the important accomplishments of modern science. It is a union of beauty and efficiency, bringing comfort and cheer to the room in which it is placed.

It maintains a steady flow of warmth throughout the house, consuming, however, no more coal or wood than is ordinarily used to heat one room.

"-AS COZY AS ONE CAN WISH"

Dear Sir:

With a Perfection Oil Heater in the house as a supplement, any corner may be made as comfortable and cozy as one can wish in a surprisingly short time.
It serves so many purposes. It makes a cozy corner for the invalid; heats an extra kettle of water for any purpose whatsoever; pops the corn for the party of young people, without a long wait for the kitchen fire and the discomfort of the extra heat in the house; sitting close by the dining table, it serves for the quick, hot toast, and you don't wait long either; it keeps the vegetables from freezing when the thermometer races many degrees below zero, and not the least of all, it keeps baby chicks as cozy as can be, when old mother hen has become a back number.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. EDWARD B. SPRAGUE

Editorial

Our new policemen look quite neat in their shiny blue coats, and during the daytime they are very quiet and unobtrusive; but something should be done about the way they wink at our wives, sisters and sweethearts, after dark. This is a scandalous state of affairs and there should be some drastic measures taken to put a stop to it.

The Fliver office is a scene of bustling activity, these days, and if business increases with the same tremendous strides with which it has been going on for the past few weeks, we greatly fear that we will be unable to renew the lease, which H. C. Baxter & Bro. hold. We should have to eject these tenants, as they live strictly up to their contracts, but business is business and we cannot help that.

Renew your subscription, which will cause us joy beyond description, and we will see that your inscription is promptly placed upon our editors.

The Fryeburg Fliver is published semi-annually or oftener at the Fryburg Bldg., Fryeburg, Me., and enjoys the distinction of having the largest circulation of any paper printed in this busy burg. It has no superior as an advertising medium, as W. R. Mansfield, the lobster king (king of lobsters) and Alvin Cream of Cream's Garage, will testify; and they should know, as the bulk of their vast fortunes was built by intelligent advertising in the columns of this noted sheet. If even, people, it takes you last night, it spent for the Fliver it's money well spent.

Good work for Mabel Ridlon. Here's one girl who knows beans (when she sees 'em on a successful label).

Boner Ridlon is very attentive to visitors at this plant, especially to those from Fryeburg Tavern.

"Pirates" relieved the Fliver editor of part of his roll yesterday.

Elwin Rogers, who has been suffering with a sore hand, is said to be guided to a new booming baby boy. Evidently Mrs. Rogers, knowing that her hubby was a creature of enthusiasm, thought that if Elwin had a "bad hand," the least she could do, was to make it "five in the crib."

Chip Watt has gathered a good supply of acorns and has a treat in store for those who like their "bitters." George Chase is also gathering nuts—under the shaker.

Mack Watt has nailed down the job on the wall. There's something brewing when he and Brewer get in gear.

To hear "Duke" Charles growl, while loading trucks at the Fliver Bldg., you might think that he was the guy who put "euss" in discuss.

EAST OTISFIELD

Carl E. Peace

The passing away of Carl E. Peace, age 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peace, was a great shock and sorrow to his many friends and relatives. Carl's health had not been the best in the past year, although he worked a greater part of the time. He was a graduate of the Oxford High School in June, 1924. Since then he has worked summers for Miss Mary North, at Camp Obelisk, a grade camp, on the shore of Lake Thompson. He was assistant superintendent of the camp. The past winter he worked for a Wireless Specialty Company in Boston, and was unable to work indoors, so came back to his camp work again the past summer. He was trustworthy and a willing worker and liked by all who employed him.

October 11 he was taken with acute tonsillitis, was very sick, but rallied for a few days and went to his work at the camp for three days. He was taken much worse with a temperature of 106, and was rushed to Dr. Cobb's private hospital in Auburn, where pus was removed from his face, but the infection spread throughout his whole body. Everything possible was done for him, but to no avail. His mother was with him during it and did all possible for him; also his father and brother visited him. Many friends called to offer their services. When about to realize his passing, his talks with his mother were a great comfort to her. During his last anxious moments he spoke of seeing the angels and tried to voice a hymn and on Nov. 1st he passed to the great Beyond. He leaves a father and mother, two brothers, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral services were held at the Free Baptist Church, Tuesday, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. D. L. Joslin of Norway. A large company of relatives and friends were present. Also a large number of his schoolmates and one of his teachers from Oxford High School. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

The following list of flowers show with what love and esteem he was held:

October 11 he was taken with acute tonsillitis, was very sick, but rallied for a few days and went to his work at the camp for three days. He was taken much worse with a temperature of 106, and was rushed to Dr. Cobb's private hospital in Auburn, where pus was removed from his face, but the infection spread throughout his whole body. Everything possible was done for him, but to no avail. His mother was with him during it and did all possible for him; also his father and brother visited him. Many friends called to offer their services. When about to realize his passing, his talks with his mother were a great comfort to her. During his last anxious moments he spoke of seeing the angels and tried to voice a hymn and on Nov. 1st he passed to the great Beyond. He leaves a father and mother, two brothers, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral services were held at the Free Baptist Church, Tuesday, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. D. L. Joslin of Norway. A large company of relatives and friends were present. Also a large number of his schoolmates and one of his teachers from Oxford High School. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

SOUTH WATERFORD

Sunshine Singing Club—Methodist Church. Painted—Benefit to be Given—Grange Meeting.

The Sunshine Singing Club of nineteen children gave a supper and recital at Grange hall, South Waterford, on Friday evening, Nov. 6. A fine Waterford supper was served at 6.30 to 100 people. The following program was presented:

Greeting Song.....Rev. A. C. Townsend
Prayer.....Rev. A. C. Townsend Introduction.....Dorothy Holden Club History.....Dorothy Holden America, the Beautiful.....Dorothy Holden Gentle Words.....Dorothy Holden
The Distant Bell.....Dorothy Holden Silent Night.....Dorothy Holden
Our Flag.....Dorothy Holden
Remarks.....Edna M. Monro Presentation of gifts for attendance: Annie L. Grover, Ruth E. Bouda, Forest E. Kilgore, Annie H. Gardner, Virginia Tyler, Howard Gardner, Dorothy Holden, (She being absent one meeting owing to illness).
Dorothy Holden presented Miss Monro a purse of money given by parents of club members. Miss Monro expressed her sincere thanks.

A social followed the program, which was enjoyed by young and old. Music was furnished by Miss Lillian Kimball, Mrs. Jennie Sanders, Mrs. Doris Rounds, Ellsworth and Mrs. Doris Rounds. The proceeds have been voted for the support of church, Christmas work, a small bank account and a flower and fruit fund.

This Singing Club was organized on June 5, 1925, with leader, Ethel M. Monro, with nineteen members. We have had new members and some old ones went away, so our average attendance has been nineteen. We have held twenty-two meetings. The object of the club has been to teach sing reading in singing. Yet the club has lived up to its name by spreading rays of sunshine to the shut-ins and aged.

There has been a meeting held each week and one social affair every four weeks in the form of parties, "weenie roasts," "marshmallow toast" and other parties. We as a club feel very grateful to the kind friends and parents, who so kindly have helped us in all these affairs. Many thanks are due the Grange for hall and to their kind janitor, to the man who gave us the moonlight ride in September, also the man who has furnished us wood to heat the church, where our meetings have been held during the five months.

We have fine girls and boys with fine building material for the making of men and women we shall be proud of. Every one in the month to come help in all ways to encourage their spirit of thoughtfulness.

The Methodist church has recently been refitted. Miss Jennie W. Payson very kindly gave the paint and Mrs. A. Monro raised the money by subscription to succeed the paint. It has made a great improvement. Hope later to improve the grounds. Arthur Kingman and his men did the painting.

Several from our village attended the Union Congregational Association at North Waterford on Thursday, Nov. 5th. A fine meeting was reported, also dinner. Mrs. Jennie Hammond, who has spent the summer months with her brothers, Henry and Fred Hayes, left for Medford, Mass., on Monday, to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Stevens.

Thomas W. Hardy closed his home on Monday, going to spend the winter with his son and daughter in Massachusetts. Mrs. W. K. Hardy has been suffering with rheumatism in her ankle. It is some better at present.

Mr. Chas. Kimball is caring for Mrs. Clayton Pike and daughter.

Mrs. Harold Kimball is at Dr. Hubbard's.

Mrs. C. W. Perry and her daughter, Clara F. Sargent, left for Waterville, Mass., on Monday. Will Lyman, a nephew, drove down for them.

Mrs. W. E. Abbott was suddenly called home on account of her father's illness. At present he is on the gain.

Orrie Moore and Maude B. Atherton, have completed a fine cottage on the shore of Bear Pond.

Lena York and Mrs. Frank Howard are putting up a nice cottage on the east shore of our lake.

Friday night, Nov. 13, a benefit is to be given Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kilgore. It is to be in the nature of a pound party, preceded by a supper and followed by a dance. Trust all will come for it is a very worthy cause.

Elyza Millett, who has been ill, is better.

Will Green has been ill, but is at work again.

The Hayes Bros. have done quite a business at making cider in what was the Watson mill.

Flora Abbott is about again after a week in bed.

Mrs. A. A. Monroe and daughter, Ethel, are soon leaving for Massachusetts. As yet their plans for winter are not made.

Mrs. L. R. Miller has gone for a month's visit with relatives in Auburn. Frank Billings left on Sunday for New Hampshire, where he spends his winters with his sister.

Evelyn Nason of Harrison is working for Mrs. Harry Hayes.

Mrs. Jennie Hayes went to her daughter's, Mrs. C. D. Tarbox's of Harrison, for the winter on Nov. 1st.

Grand meeting on Saturday was entertained by Henry Hayes and Robbins Plummer. A very good program. Refreshments of doughnuts, sweet cider, cheese and candies were served. A social followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thompson have moved to the John Kilgore farm, where they are to care for Mrs. Payson's work.

Miss Moore and Mrs. Wolfe are soon to leave for the middle south. They are to drive in their car.

Albert Hamlin and family are settled in their new home, the Young house, which has been recently renovated for their use.
